Where Montana Began

Constructed in 1864,
Stonewall Hall is Montana's original legislative building
— the very place where the Territory's earliest lawmakers gathered to define a new government and chart the future of the West.

At the Cross Roads of History

Over the years, Stonewall Hall evolved — serving as a saloon, a retail storefront, and eventually the Dudley Garage.
Through each transformation, its spirit endured as a cornerstone of Virginia City's story and Montana's identity.

The Next Chapter

Thanks to early supporters, critical stabilization work is now complete, saving the structure from collapse.
But to fully restore Stonewall Hall and return it to public use, we need your help.
